Seven Decades of
Design Authority

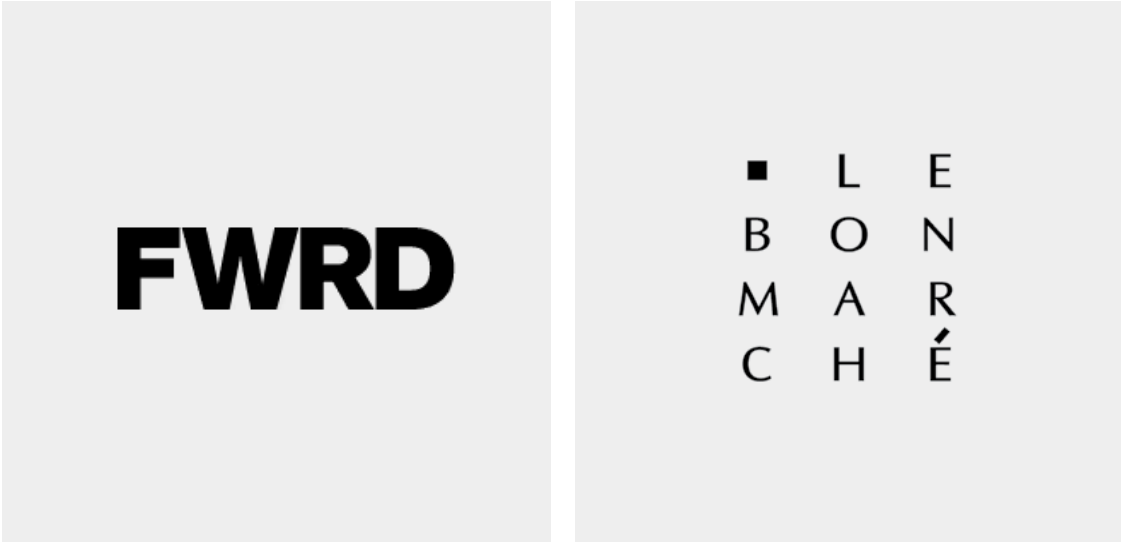

Founded in London in 1973 by trailblazing designer and entrepreneur Sir Terence Conran, The Conran Shop draws on a design legacy stretching back to the 1950s — seven decades of design authority.

Our original furniture, lighting and home accessories collections are developed in-house by our London-based design team, TCS Studio, or created in collaboration with leading designers and makers worldwide.

TCS Studio: How We Work

TCS Studio is the in-house design studio of The Conran Shop, based in Clerkenwell. It continues a practice of original design that traces directly to Sir Terence Conran. In 2023 we brought that practice fully in-house, a deliberate return to designing our own collections rather than curating others.

In-House Design

Designing in-house allows our designers to guide every decision, from concept and materials to manufacture, ensuring clarity, quality, and considered value.

Product Development

Working with some of the world's most skilled manufacturers, we develop products through close collaboration, refining ideas into durable, production-ready designs.

Creative Partnerships

We collaborate with leading designers, makers, and artists whose work aligns with our values, bringing fresh perspectives to The Conran Shop.

Ethos

TCS Studio continues the legacy of our founder, Sir Terence Conran. Our work is guided by a belief in simplicity, beauty, functionality, and surprise.

TCS Studio: Our Team

Our in-house team is responsible for the development of our original collections, combining award-winning design expertise with decades of experience. Several members worked directly with Sir Terence Conran, helping carry his design principles forward.
